My one thought was. What would have happened had you not got involved? All but those young pigs would have died. The young ones. The caretaker would have ate or sold. And the fish would have died too..

He won't take any responsibility. Mead is just a joke. Was whining about how many ...

Everything you have done in farming has failed and people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones, your a fake a failure and a very dubious person, did fail at selling ice-cream as well. I see you like quoting the good ole days in the church, well you must of left your respect for the church and different Christian denominations when you went into the Catholic Church in Talibon in the middle of a religious ceremony dressed like a slob with your dogs with you. I would ask the good Christian people to watch that video
